

Discourse 6. The problem on earth

Jesus: Let us take these considerations to a world scale. The most amazing phenomenon on planet earth today is no doubt the inhumane behavior of human beings. However, when you understand the characteristics of the carnal mind, you gain a new perspective on human inhumanity.

The main characteristic of the carnal mind is relativity. To the carnal mind, nothing is absolute. Therefore, for a person caught in the carnal mind, there is no such thing as absolute right or wrong, and there is no such thing as too much.

When people are caught in the carnal mind, they can never be fully satisfied. That is why you see people engage in a lifelong quest to gain more wealth, more human love, more power, more sex, more possessions, more recognition etcetera, etcetera, etcetera.

You can see people today who have achieved astonishing wealth or power, yet these people are still not satisfied. The simple fact is that as long as people are caught in the carnal mind, nothing will satisfy them.

I mentioned earlier that the soul has a built-in memory of its spiritual origin. Nothing can satisfy your soul except direct contact with the infinite and unconditional love of God. Therefore, no amount of wealth, power, recognition or human love can fully satisfy the soul.

What I am saying here is that your soul has a longing for something that is final, ultimate and absolute. When you combine this with the relativity of the carnal mind, you get a very dangerous cocktail. You see, to the carnal mind there is nothing absolute, and therefore there are no limits. To the carnal mind, everything is relative. Therefore, the carnal mind simply cannot stop itself. The carnal mind does not have the ability to say: "I have gone too far." The carnal mind cannot fathom the idea that it could somehow violate an absolute law, because the carnal mind cannot recognize an absolute law.

Therefore, you now have a soul who is on a quest for the ultimate experience yet is seeking that ultimate experience through the relativity of the carnal mind. If the soul is completely identified with the carnal mind, the soul is prepared to do anything in order to satisfy this quest for an ultimate experience. The carnal mind does not understand what the soul wants, but it is prepared to do anything to satisfy the soul's longing. The soul is like the crime boss who wants the money, and the carnal mind is the hired killer who will do anything to get that money. This unholy alliance is a recipe for disaster.

The carnal mind can justify anything

The problem is that by using the relativity of the carnal mind, the soul can always justify its actions. If you were to objectively examine some of the worst atrocities that have been committed on this planet, you would discover something truly amazing. It is easy to think that atrocities, such as the holocaust, were caused by evil souls.

Yet, contrary to outer appearances, there are no evil souls. In reality, all souls were created by God, and they were created in the image and likeness of God. God never created anything imperfect, because God simply does not have the ability to envision anything imperfect. His eyes cannot behold iniquity.

You can point to any number of historical figures who committed atrocities that can easily be characterized as evil. Yet, if you could go inside these people's minds (as I can), you would realize that they did not see themselves as evil people committing evil acts. In fact, they believed that their acts were necessary, reasonable and that they could be justified according to some ultimate standard.

I know this idea will seem shocking to many people, but I am here to tell you that no evil act was ever committed on planet earth. All seemingly evil acts were the result of one thing, and one thing only: ignorance.

In reality, evil is a concept created by the carnal mind; it is not a concept created by God or accepted by God. His eyes cannot behold iniquity. To God, there is no such thing as evil; it simply does not exist.

What I am saying here is that even the people committing the most evil acts did not believe they did something evil. They believed that their acts were justified.

How can a human being possibly justify the killing of millions of people? When you are operating from the relative standard of the carnal mind, you can justify anything. How can you possibly say that something is absolutely wrong or absolutely right? To the carnal mind, there is nothing that is absolutely wrong or absolutely right. In fact, one might say that to the carnal mind there is no such thing as right or wrong.

The carnal mind has only one concern: will this achieve my goal, or will it not achieve my goal. The carnal mind is prepared to do anything to achieve its goal. It has no standard for saying that even the most noble goal cannot justify certain acts. Once the carnal mind is set on achieving a certain goal, any means become acceptable. The carnal mind cannot ask: "Is it right?" It only asks: "Is it effective?"

The motto of the carnal mind is: "If it works, do it!"

The relative standard of the carnal mind is what one might call a self-centered standard. It defines the standard based on what it sees as being in its own best interest. Therefore, one person can feel completely justified in committing an act that another person thinks is completely wrong.

When people are caught in this relative frame of mind, there is literally no end to how far they will go. If you feel completely justified in pursuing the goal of purifying the human race, killing six million people in concentration camps is not wrong. It is a justifiable act. If you feel completely justified in spreading the ideology of communism to the entire world, killing 21 million of your own people is perfectly justified. The reason being that to the carnal mind the end justifies the means.

The carnal mind does not have the ability to say: "Even though I believe my goal is just, I cannot use certain means to achieve that goal." To the carnal mind, this evaluation is meaningless. To the carnal mind, anything goes.

The Christ standard

You now begin to see how human beings can justify the most atrocious acts. The carnal mind does not consider right and wrong, but the soul might. Yet, when the soul identifies with the carnal mind, it can only evaluate right and wrong according to a relative scale. The carnal mind sees right and wrong as relative concepts. In other words, right is in opposition to wrong, and good is in opposition to evil. When you create a scale that has two extremes, everything on that scale is relative to one of these extremes. If something is good, it is only good in relation to evil. This is not an absolute standard. This is not a standard that comes from God.

God's standard is completely different from the relative standard of the carnal mind. In reality, there is only one relevant question: "Is it of God or is it not of God?" Is it within the framework defined by the laws that God used to create this universe, or is it outside the framework of those laws?

The relative standard of the carnal mind is self-centered. It defines its standards based on what, at the moment, seems to be in its own best interest. Therefore, the standard of the carnal mind can shift faster than the sands of the desert.

The standard of God is not self-centered; it is God centered. Therefore, it never changes. It is absolute and invariable.

Human beings often misunderstand the concept of God's law. Because of the culture of fear promoted by many religions (which we will talk more about later), many people look upon God's law as a restriction of their freedom. In reality, it is quite the opposite. God's law is what gives you the opportunity to express your individuality. God's law ensures that the material universe (as a whole, not necessarily planet earth at the present time) evolves in a way that is sustainable.

In other words, because of God's law, the universe will not suddenly self-destruct, and as a result your soul can count on having a stable platform upon which you can build your individuality. The dangers found on planet earth are not the result of God's law. They exist only because humankind, in its ignorance, has departed from God's law and therefore created a self-destructive spiral.

When a soul identifies itself with the carnal mind, it dwells in ignorance. The soul is ignorant of the laws of God, and therefore it cannot see what is in its own best interest. How can a soul escape from ignorance? It must come to know God's laws so that the soul can see what is best for itself.

I have said that there are no evil souls. If a soul truly understands what is in its own best interest, the soul will not do something to harm or destroy itself. The soul has free will, and therefore it has the potential to destroy itself. Yet, because the soul is created in the image and likeness of God (it is designed after the divine blueprint) it will not knowingly choose to destroy itself. A soul can commit self-destructive acts only as a result of ignorance.

How can a soul know the laws of God? It can do so only through a direct, inner experience.

The soul cannot attain this experience from the carnal mind or the physical senses. The soul can know the laws of God only through the Christ consciousness. The only possible way by which a soul can escape ignorance is by attaining Christ consciousness.

You already have discernment

You might think: “But how could I, a human being in a mortal body, possibly know the absolute standard of God? In reality, this is not nearly as difficult as you think.

Take a look at human history. Numerous atrocities have been committed by human beings. These atrocities often attract undue attention. In reality, many more good and unselfish acts have been committed by human beings.

It is a fact that all human beings on planet earth have descended into a lower state of consciousness than what was originally intended by God. Yet, not everyone has become completely lost in that lower state of consciousness. If you look at humankind today, you will see that people can be put on a scale. At one extreme of this scale you find people who are completely absorbed in and identified with the carnal mind. These people believe that the ends can justify the means, and there is no limit to how far they will go in pursuing the goals that they feel are justified.

As you move towards the other end of this scale, you find people who are affected by the carnal mind, yet they still cannot accept the idea that the end can justify the means. Why are there people who are not completely absorbed in the selfishness and relativity of the carnal mind? What is it that gives these people the ability to say: “This simply isn’t right?”

The ability to stop yourself from doing a selfish, and in reality a self-destructive, act simply cannot come from the carnal mind. The carnal mind could never make this determination. The flesh and blood of the carnal mind simply cannot reveal to the soul what is right according to a higher standard. Therefore, there is only one possible explanation for the fact that so many people have the ability to say: “Enough is enough; this is not right.”

The explanation is that every human being has a built-in ability to reach beyond the relativity of the carnal mind. This inner ability, is the open door which no human can shut. It is often called “the still small voice within” or simply intuition. In reality, it is much more than what most people perceive.

In reality, the ability to reach beyond the lower vibrations of the carnal mind can come from only one source. That source is what I have called the universal Christ consciousness.

The outer and the inner savior

I have told you that there is a difference in vibration between the material universe and the spiritual world. When human beings fell, they fell into a lower state of consciousness. When the soul is trapped in this lower state of consciousness, the soul simply cannot reach beyond the vibrations of that consciousness.

That is why the soul needs a savior from outside itself. That savior is the Christ consciousness. The Christ consciousness is the mediator between the lower consciousness of the carnal mind and the higher consciousness of God. The Christ consciousness is the only begotten son of God, and it is meant to serve as the mediator between God and the offspring of God, including (but not limited to) human beings.

The Christ consciousness was not something that was created by accident. It was not something that God created because certain souls fell into a lower state of consciousness. The Christ consciousness was created by God at the very foundation of the world. The Christ consciousness was built into the system from the very beginning.

No soul could become completely lost in this world. Within the soul is the open door which no human can shut. That open door is the individual soul's potential to develop Christ consciousness.

To fully understand the function of the Christ consciousness, you need to understand that God has created a very complex world. The world created by God has numerous levels. My Father's house has many mansions.

If you begin at the highest level, you find a spiritual realm that is made from extremely high vibrations. The highest spiritual world vibrates within a certain frequency spectrum. Below that world you have another world which vibrates within a spectrum of slightly lower frequencies. In other words, the highest spiritual world has the highest vibrations and the succeeding levels of God's creation were created by stepping down the vibration of the pure light of God. This stepping down of vibration continues all the way to the material universe. The material universe is made of vibrations that are quite low compared to the highest spiritual octave.

In the highest spiritual world, it is easy to see that everything is created from God's essence, God's light. As you move into the lower spiritual worlds, it becomes more difficult to see the formless God beyond the outer form. In the lowest spiritual world, what you call the material universe, it is not immediately obvious that everything is created from the spiritual energies of God. Therefore, a soul can potentially become lost in this world.

I also told you earlier, that the Garden of Eden was a schoolroom in which souls were prepared for life in the material world. Before a soul can safely descend into the material universe, it needs to develop a certain level of Christ consciousness. The soul needs something to breach the gap between the higher vibrations of the spiritual world and the lower vibrations of the material world. Therefore, the true purpose of the Garden of Eden was to train your soul to achieve Christ consciousness. Christ consciousness can be achieved in stages, but in the end it becomes a permanent state of consciousness in which you can live in this material world, yet never for a moment lose sight of the fact that you are a son or daughter of God. You are truly in this world, but not of this world.

A soul was not allowed to leave the Garden of Eden until it had attained a high level of Christ consciousness. Unfortunately, a number of souls decided to violate this law. They did partake of the fruit of knowledge of relative good and evil, and therefore they became lost in the lower consciousness.

Your potential for Christhood

What I am trying to make you see here is that every soul has the potential to develop Christ consciousness. It is a built-in ability that is a gift from God. This ability was not lost when souls fell. This ability can never be lost; it is the open door which no human can shut.

Any soul that entered the Garden of Eden was in the process of developing Christ consciousness. Even souls on planet earth are in the process of doing so, although few are consciously aware of this fact. Because of the density of this world, developing Christ consciousness is more difficult than it was in the protected environment of the Garden of Eden. Yet, it is by no means impossible. In fact, billions of human beings have already attained some measure of Christ consciousness. That is what gives you the ability to say: "This simply isn't right; the ends cannot justify the means."

The essence of my message is that Christ consciousness is not something that is above and beyond you. You can attain full Christ consciousness. You can walk the earth as a Christed being while you are still inhabiting your physical body. The proof of this is that you have already attained some measure of this Christ consciousness.

If you had not attained this measure, you would be a completely selfish and self-centered person, and you most certainly would not be reading these teachings. Therefore, if you have even the slightest recognition of the spiritual side of life, this recognition is a direct proof that you have already attained some measure of Christ consciousness. The flesh and blood of the carnal mind could not possibly recognize the spiritual side of life. Only the Christ consciousness could give you this recognition.

My message to you is: "Please, make the conscious decision to accept the fact that you have the potential to attain Christ consciousness!"

Please recognize that you have the potential to follow in the footsteps of Jesus Christ and do the works that I did. Please accept that you have the potential to follow the admonishment of Paul to: "Let that mind be in you which was (and is) also in Christ Jesus."

Attaining Christ consciousness is not some alien, far-flung goal that is above and beyond you. You already have a measure of that Christ consciousness; you simply need to develop it further. You simply need to allow the seed of Christ consciousness that I have already planted in your soul to blossom and grow. You need to let that seed become the leaven that raises the vibration of your entire consciousness.

When I came to earth 2,000 years ago, the vast majority of humankind had descended into such a low state of consciousness that they were virtually consumed by the carnal mind. Everyone still had the open door deep within their souls. Yet, that open door was covered over by so many layers of the carnal mind that it was virtually impossible for people to discover that door on their own.

People were so dense that they needed something to raise them out of the density of their consciousness. They needed a quickening of their consciousness so that they would be able to see beyond the lower mind and grasp the very idea of Christ consciousness and the potential for developing Christ consciousness.

My beloved hearts, it was my great privilege to be the herald of the Christ consciousness. My assignment from God was to go into this world and give people an awareness of their own potential to become the Christ. I was in no way, shape or form meant to appear as an exception. I was meant to be the example.

My plea to you

I am Jesus Christ.

At this very moment, as you are reading these words, I am kneeling before your soul at inner levels.

I am pleading with you.

I am imploring you to please, please make the conscious free-will decision to listen to my inner message. Please dare to look beyond the cult of idolatry that has been built around the outer person of Jesus Christ. Please listen for my inner message and decide that you are willing to follow in my footsteps.

When I came to earth, I withheld nothing from God. I sacrificed everything for the purpose of saving your soul. To this day, my mission and my sacrifice has not born the fruit that it was intended to bear. The reason for the lack of harvest is not any fault of my own. I truly imparted my individual Christ consciousness to every soul on this planet. I planted the seed of that Christ consciousness within your soul.

The reason why my sacrifice has not produced fruit is that you have not yet made the conscious free-will decision to water that seed and to allow it to grow until it bears the fruit of Christ consciousness. You have not dared to let my individual Christ consciousness, which was broken for you, blossom into the fullness of your individual Christ consciousness.

My beloved hearts, I do not need you to be Christians; I need you to be Christs.

I do not need you to be Christs after you depart from this planet. I need you to be Christed ones in embodiment here on earth right now in this age.

I need you to be the Christ here below as I am the Christ here above.

In this way, we can become one: as above, so below.

Through that oneness, we can bring forth our Farther's kingdom in full physical manifestation on this planet.

It is the Father's good pleasure to give you the kingdom.

So many people, no matter what religion they belong to, subscribe to the fallacy that God's kingdom can be attained only in the spiritual world. In reality, God desires to see his kingdom manifest at every level of his creation. Why would God possibly want to create a world in which His kingdom was not manifest? Does this idea really make sense to you?

God's kingdom is not presently manifest on planet earth, because people's state of consciousness is simply too low for God's kingdom to manifest.

God desires to change that situation.

I desire to change that situation.

However, neither God, nor I, can change the situation against your free will.

It is not necessary that every human being on earth agrees to having God's kingdom physically manifest. But it is necessary that a certain number of people, a critical mass of people, make the conscious free-will decision that they do indeed want God's kingdom to be manifest on this planet. And then, they must make the decision that they are willing to be the instrument for bringing that kingdom to earth. They must be willing to be the Christed ones in embodiment and thereby provide the open door through which God can bring forth his kingdom.

There is only one way to bring God's kingdom to earth, and that is through the Christ consciousness. There is only one way to solve the almost infinite variety of problems found on planet earth. The only possible solution to the problems created by the carnal mind is to bring the higher consciousness of the Christ mind.

I am Jesus Christ, and I desire to see God's kingdom manifest on earth. Yet, I am not in embodiment on planet earth. Therefore, my hands are tied.

Even if I was in embodiment on planet earth, it is not enough that one person decides to bring forth God's kingdom. God wants a certain number of people to reach the conscious awareness and make the conscious decision that they are willing to reach for the Christ consciousness and to reach for God's kingdom. It is only through this conscious decision that God will bring forth his kingdom in this world.

God has given you free will.

God respects his own law.

If you decide to ignore, deny or explain away the message I have just given you, then God will respect your choice.

God will simply allow humankind to continue to descend into the self-destructive spiral that they have created. God will allow civilization to self-destruct through the relativity of the carnal mind. What else can God do without violating your free will?

However, if a certain number of people will make the conscious decision that they will not allow civilization to self-destruct, then those people will give God the authority to create change on planet earth.

Please do not sit here and think that this message applies to someone else.

Please do not make the decision that even though you think my message is true, someone else will have to carry it out.

If everyone makes that decision, nothing will happen.

Therefore, the key to bringing about change on this planet, the key to bringing about change in your personal life, is you and your decision to reach for your individual Christhood.

Do not be concerned about other people.

Right now, the only thing that matters is you.

How will you respond to my message?

Will you choose to be the Christ that you truly are, or will you choose not to be that Christ?

Will you continue to be the mortal human being instead of the immortal spiritual being? Or will you decide that it is time to drink the new wine of the Christ consciousness?

I, Jesus, can only wait until you make your decision.
