About The Author

Hi, my name is Eileen Tan, the author of The Inspirational Moment.

First of all, I'd like to congratulate you for downloading this eBook. You are just moments away to 20 power of thoughts that will make a positive impact in your personal transformation.

Now, you may be wondering... How can all these power of thoughts possibly help me, let alone change my life?

In order to answer that question, allow me to share with you my personal story. I am in my mid 20s, born and raised in a tiny island named Singapore.

This is the first time that I am penning this down.. In honor to my mum.

Mummy had a stroke when I am at the age of 8, in grade 2, in the month of June. I can still remember vividly every scene. She went unconscious at home, and was admitted to hospital. Doctors said she was suffering from a severe Brain Haemorrhage (stroke), and was in a very critical condition, we were told to prepare for the worse. I remember seeing myself often in my school uniform travelling to the hospital to see mummy. Thank god, Mummy managed to pull through; her condition was stabilized but still remained in a vegetative state (coma) for almost 2 months until the day she finally opens her eyes.. She was paralysed; neck down. It was only months later that she was able to move one of her hands and legs in slow motion, voice slurred, words coming from her hardly understandable. She was bedridden, had to rely on milk feeding through a feeding tube and diapers for all her waste disposal. As her Brain Hemorrhage was severe, we were told that her chances of recovery were slim and will basically conform to those activities as mentioned above. She was young, only in her 40s.

Because of mummy's medical condition and hefty medical expenses, our family went from an able to do income to one that has to meet end's meet. Daddy was the only sole bread winner, and I got an elder brother who is 5 years older, who was also schooling.

Years on, as young as age 12 or 13, I started doing all kinds of odd jobs you can think of.. Distributing flyers, street surveyor, factory worker, Macdonald crew, outdoor sales, and at some point, holding up to 2-3 jobs at any one time. I can still remember, at the age of 16.. Because it pays well to work in the midnight shift, I took on a job as a factory production operator from 9pm to 6am, standing for hours in the production line putting some sort of adhesive glue on some motor parts. The in-charge was demanding and strict. I had to be quick in order to meet the tight production dateline, doing gluing and more gluing. This process has to be done in a repetitive rhythm mode for hours, with minimal rest, standing. Working in a clean room environment, wearing a clean room suit with headgear, face mask and latex gloves, it was an unforgettable experience. I will return home to sleep between 7am to 2pm. In order to save some money from dinner, I will work between 4-8pm at Macdonald as meals will be provided, before heading to the factory at 9pm. This went on for at least 3 months. It was tough, but I never complain, because I had a choice, and that was my choice at that point in time. As I was able to earn some good decent money on my own accord and for the family, I felt somewhat blissful;) Awww, memorable! Some school mates or acquaintances often judge me as someone who is money minded, materialistic, snobbish and arrogant. Honestly, I didn't care how others judge me neither will I bother to share what was going on at home, or what exactly we were going through to people who may not mean anything to me.

Because daddy was always busy at work, a brother whom I wasn't close to at that time, financial woes, mummy's illness; all of these have taken a toll on me, since the age of 8. There were times where I will have thoughts like that; If I can never awake from my sleep to face the reality, call me a coward, I will rather leave all these behind me.

It was so hard for the family but often have to put up a brave front in front of mummy. It was a blow to her and terribly hard on us, but what's going through her was definitely 100x more. Throughout the ordeal for years, I was the closest to mummy. Often by her bedside, doing my school homework, talking and joking with her, or simply to accompany her.

No matter how much the family puts up a brave front in front of mummy, always smiling and joking by her side, but deep down.. I know mummy knows well what is going on within the family. Mummy often cried, blaming herself for not taking care of us. She often told daddy to look for a new wife, often call out to me, weeping and blaming herself for not taking care and protecting me. When she knows I'm bullied, there is nothing she can do but to put the blame on herself. Mummy will often ask me, if she passes on, how.. What will happen to me.. I will always give her a brave smile, holding her hands, avoided her question and reassuring her that everything will be okay.

I know I will have to be strong, for her to be strong. I have to be happy, for her to be happy. No matter how much hardship and pressure I am facing the world, I learn to tolerate, swallow my pride and keep it to myself so as not to add on additional burden to my family. I did well academically, and I can still recall the happiness and pride on her face whenever I show my results and reading out the teacher's appraisal to her. Is one of the little things I do to make her feel that she is a mother she can be proud of.. I will never forget those moments with her!

Mummy went in and out of the hospital a couple of times due to complications. On at least one occasion, we were told to prepare for the worse. She taught me what courage means, to witness her conquering each hurdle as she pulls through those critical periods. I know mummy can't bear to let go, she still wants to continue watching her children grow up.

Mummy took her final breath when I am at the age of 17. Throughout those 9 years, I have never answered to her question what will happen to me, when she passed on. The writer is crying uncontrollably now. For a mother so strong to watch us grow up before leaving the family to continue on her next journey, for everything she went through, it should not be in vain. For bringing up a decent human being, till we meet again in heaven, I want you to be very proud of your daughter. A daughter who is capable, successful, optimistic, inspiring and with the courage to continue on your legacy. Mummy, this is your daughter.

I have been an entrepreneur at the age of 18, embarking on various businesses, started with $0. At present, I am a Director of my own company in the education sector, with a group of wonderful team members under my care. I don't see myself as someone who is successful, but counting my blessings and thankful for everything I am today. I have set my mission to inspire people. For myself to be grounded to continue doing good to humanities and to inspire others, I believe this is my calling.

Our mindset and values play a huge role in moulding whom you want to be, and what you want to be. And my honest opinion, what lessons have my mum taught me? She has taught me valuable life lessons than one can ever experience and imagine; my mindset, optimism, courage and the power of thoughts to brave through different circumstances in life. This is her greatest gift to me.

It took me a lot of courage and tears to pen all of these down. I have never thought I will be able to share this part of my story which makes a huge impact in my life. For years, after mummy left us, I concealed that part of my childhood like a scar in me. I am thankful that I am able to realign my life purpose and direction at a whole new level recalling back those moments. I am who I am today, as I continue to live my life with purpose to inspire others.

Introduction

With this ebook, as a reader, you will be able to establish which power of thoughts will be useful for you at different phrases in life. Save this ebook, so that you can always refer back to.

I will be featuring a few world's most famous inspirational people so that you can relate to and be inspired by them.. You will learn valuable inspirations from them which have led them to where they are today and in turn, to make significant changes to your life.

Colonel Sanders

Albert Einstein

Nick Vujicic

Steve Jobs

#1: Life Is All About Perspective

There are two major types of change that tend to challenge us and disrupt our day-to-day lives. The first happens to us. the second happens within us. We can't control the first, but we can and should control the second.

- Nick Vujčić

Vujčić's life was a hard one. He was bullied in school and at the age of 10, tried to drown himself in six inches of water. After his failed attempt at suicide, he struggled accepting his disability until eventually realizing that he could use his life to inspire others.

If we can't change the situation we are in, we can make the very best out of it. If we can't change the problems, we can always change the way we see them. Life is all about Perspective. Life is all about choices. You can decide how you want to live the life you want no matter what the circumstances are. Be objective and look beyond them:)

If you are facing any obstacles and roadblocks in your life right now, pluck up that courage to omit them off totally, this will help you to be truly happy about yourself, and about life.

#2: Happiness From Within

Life isn't about having, it's about being. You could surround yourself with all that money can buy, and you'd still be as miserable as a human can be. I know people with perfect bodies who don't have half the happiness I've found. On my journeys I've seen more joy in the slums of Mumbai and the orphanages of Africa than in wealthy gated communities and on sprawling estates worth millions.

Why is that? You'll find contentment when your talents and passion are completely engaged, in full force. Recognise instant self-gratification for what it is. Resist the temptation to grab for material objects like the perfect house, the coolest clothes or the hottest car. The if I just had X, I would be happy syndrome is a mass delusion. When you look for happiness in mere objects, they are never enough. Look around. Look within. - Nick Vujčić

#3: Find Your Purpose

We don't get a chance to do that many things, and every one should be really excellent. Because this is our life. Life is brief, and then you die, you know? And we've all chosen to do this with our lives. So it better be damn good. It better be worth it. - Steve Jobs

Whether you are a student, a retiree, an employee, a self employed or a homemaker, always look for a purpose in life. Find a purpose within you that gives life meaning; visualize a purpose that will gain immense satisfaction and happiness within you. It should not be material possessions, look within and find something that truly gives you immense happiness that you will not live with regret. This will not only make you feel better in difficult times, it gives you a sense of being, a moving force for you to strive towards excellence.

You may want to explore this program for a systematic goal setting to help you stay on track in life.

#4: Love What You Do

The only way to do great work is to love what you do. If you haven't found it yet, keep looking. Don't settle. As with all matters of the heart, you'll know when you find it. And, like any great relationship, it just gets better and better as the years roll on. So keep looking until you find it. Don't settle.

- Steve Jobs

When you are passionate in what you are doing, you will generally excel in it as you put your heart and soul into it. If you are currently an employee, do you genuinely love what you are doing at work? Finding a life purpose in what you are doing at your workplace may help you to align your perspective, and hence, increase your performance at work. This does not apply to only your job, your life as well! Hobby, leisure, whatever.. When you love what you do, you will generally have that sense of satisfaction. Life should be like this! And if you are able to connect both your career vs love what you are doing, that is truly something we should work towards to!

#5: Know your Why

When Apple Computer fell on hard times, Steve Jobs went from California to New York City. His purpose was to convince PepsiCo's John Sculley to run his struggling company. Sculley said, 'you'd have to give me a million-dollar salary, a million-dollar bonus, and a million-dollar severance'

Jobs issued a challenge to Sculley, "Do you want to spend the rest of your life selling sugared water or do you want a chance to change the world?" In his autobiography, Odyssey, Sculley admits Jobs's challenge 'knocked the wind out of me.' With this, Sculley went over to Apple.

There's nothing wrong with selling sugared water... The question is, Is what you are doing making a difference in someone's life –or that of many lives? Whatever you choose to invest your life in, be sure that what you are doing is helping people's lives for all eternity.

#6: Don't Value Money

As CEO of Apple, Steve Jobs earned $1 a year. He wasn't incentivized by his salary, but by his own unrelenting passion and vision.

Being the richest man in the cemetery doesn't matter to me ... Going to bed at night saying we've done something wonderful...
that's what matters to me. -Steve Jobs

#7: Be a Value Giver

Strive not to be a success, but rather to be of value. - Albert Einstein

Don't waste your time chasing after success, fame or wealth. If yes, are you genuinely happy? Most of the successful and happy people around spend time in creating value in the lives of people. The Law of Attraction explains that the best way to bring fulfilment to yourself is to genuinely have a desire to create value in the lives of people and constantly giving. Your true worth is determined by how much you give.

It is not a strategy to in turn get more from the people we serve but it comes from a deep desire to really want to make a difference in the lives of those around us. We should look at this as a formula for success, but instead, is a way of life.

#8: What You Give, You Get

Yet I also believe that when you do unto others, blessings come to you as well. So if you don't have a friend, be a friend. If you are having a bad day, make someone else's day. If your feelings are hurt, heal those of another.

- Nick Vujčić

Life is like an echo.. When you send out, it comes back. What you sow, you reap. What you give, you get. What you see in others, exist in you. So stay nice, even when others are not.

#9: Sometimes Life Hits You Hard...

Sometimes life hits you in the head with a brick. Don't lose faith. I'm convinced that the only thing that kept me going was that I loved what I did. You've got to find what you love. And that is as true for your work as it is for your lovers. Your work is going to fill a large part of your life, and the only way to be truly satisfied is to do what you believe is great work. - Steve Jobs

#10: See failure As a Pinch of Salt

Everybody fails. It's what we do and how we feel after we fail, that will make a difference in life. In 1984, Steve Jobs was fired from Apple. At Stanford's 2005 commencement address, he had this to say about it:

I didn't see it then, but it turned out that getting fired from Apple was the best thing that could have ever happened to me. The heaviness of being successful was replaced by the lightness of being a beginner again, less sure about everything. It freed me to enter one of the most creative periods of my life.

-Steve Jobs

#11: Courage to fail

You don't need courage to win. You need courage to fail. If I fail, I try again, and again, and again. If YOU fail, are you going to try again? The human spirit can handle much worse than we realize. It matters HOW you are going to FINISH. Are you going to finish strong? - Nick Vujicic

We will never discover our potential without learning from our failures and mistakes. Never let your fear holds you back, to do what you want to do. So what if you fail? Is okay, just try again, you will climb out there stronger each time at your bottom pit! I will recommend this page if you wish to understand more on how your mind and subconscious will affect the kind of results in your life.

#12: Is Never too Late

Colonel Sanders was 65 years old when he received his first social security cheque of $99. He was broke, and owned a small house.

He made a decision that he has got to change. The only idea he had was a chicken recipe, which his friends liked. With that idea in mind, he took massive action.

It's incredible how a man when almost retire, took massive action at the age of 65 and hence, founded Kentucky Fried Chicken, popularly known as KFC today. KFC has grown into one of the most profitable franchises around the world, having more than 17000 outlets around the world with more than $9 billion turnover.

Is never too late or too old to be who you want to be, what you might have been. Dream, have faith and start taking massive action in your life!

#13: Don't Give Up, You May Be Just Around The Corner

Colonel Sanders at the age of 65, travelled to many states in the US to sell his idea. He told the restaurant owners that he had a chicken recipe that people liked and he was giving it to them for free. What he wanted in return was for the restaurant owners to pay him a small percentage on the pieces of chicken sold. He was rejected countless times, and on many occasions, laughed at his attire of white shirt and pants. However, Sanders persevered and did not give up. He got 1009 rejections before he got his first yes.

With that one success, he continued on to build his empire. Colonel Sanders is the founder of Kentucky Fried Chicken, popularly known as KFC today.

How many of us will be able to face 1009 rejections? Is not easy and the key to it is to persevere. You will not know for every “no” you got, there could be a “yes” just around the corner, so don't give up!

#14: Actions Takes You Somewhere

No matter how dire your circumstances may appear, you can rise above them. To wish for change will change nothing. To make the decision to take action right now will change everything! - Nick Vujicic

Start taking action and do not let fear holds you back. There is a saying, FEAR stands for “False Evidence Appearing Real”. I can totally understand the times when we will give ourselves excuses and procrastinate. But what is more important to you? Your fear, your hunger for success or is it that big dream that you have always long for? You will never know what will be the result, until you start taking some actions today!

Try this!: Can you recall all the opportunities and possibilities that you have missed just because you didn't take any action back then? Is that lesson painful? Remember that pain factor and hold it close to you, this pain should be your motivation to take some serious action in future if you are facing similar situations.

Rule of thumb: Take the first step, no step is too small, even if is a small baby step, do it consistently and you will eventually look back and see how far you have come thus far. ;)

#15: Complaining is draining..

Nick Vujicic has no arms or legs. But still live fuller life than most of us. As Nick grew up he learnt to deal with his disability and started to be able to do more and more things on his own. He adapted to his situation and found ways to accomplish tasks that most people could only do by using their limbs, such as brushing his teeth, combing his hair, answering the phone, typing on a computer up to 53 words per minute, swimming, surfing, play golf, sky diving and much more. As time went by Nick began to embrace his situation and achieve greater things. In the 7th grade, he worked with the student council of his school to raise funds for local charities and disability campaigns. When he was 17, he began giving motivational speeches at prayer groups and founded his non-profit organization, Life Without Limbs. At the age of 21, Vujicic graduated from university with a double major in Accounting and Financial Planning. Today, he is an internationally known motivational speaker and an evangelist.

Don't we all love to complain? We complain when our Internet connection is too slow or if we failed to get seats on the bus.. It has become an unspoken way of life isn't it? The next time we want to complain about something trivial, remember that there are some people who have lost so much, but still smile at the storm and make the best of what they have.

#16: Your Story is Just a Beginning, Show it to the World!

We assume that Albert Einstein childhood he had a recognizable gift but in reality, it was totally different. Einstein was unable to speak fluently until he was 12 years old. His poor language skills provoked his teacher to tell the boy, "You will never amount to anything." At school he was tormented by other children who commented he smelled, his hair and clothes were in a mess. He would often act out by barking or snorting loudly in class which earned him the nickname of "pig-dog". Einstein was expelled from high school for being rebellious, and was not accepted into Zurich's Federal Institute of Technology on his first try, and failed the entrance exam. After getting his high school diploma at a different school, Einstein returned to FIT and was admitted.

Where in history do you read of Albert Einstein, the slow learner, the class clown or the rebellious child? We know him simply as Albert Einstein, The Genius. Where and how long has your talent or genius laid hidden? Have you believed the words of others or taken to heart your past failures and experience to decide who you are today? No matter what people think of you, your story is just a beginning; show it to the world!

If you are a parent or one who is presently in a teaching industry, we should adopt the same principle towards a child. Every child develops at a different pace. Be encouraging with your words so that children can nurture and soar to greater heights in an enjoyable and happy environment. Our role is to assist them to learn at their own pace. Have the same faith in them that someday, they can be a somebody to show it to the world!:)

#17: Live Everyday As If Its Your last

Remembering that I'll be dead soon is the most important tool I've ever encountered to help me make the big choices in life. Because almost everything — all external expectations, all pride, all fear of embarrassment or failure — these things just fall away in the face of death, leaving only what is truly important. - Steve Jobs

What makes a life worth living and worth remembering? Live life to the fullest and savour every moment while it last. Cherish those around you, have the courage to love, and don't be afraid to express your love to your dear ones. Till the time you take your last breath, you will live with no regrets and life to you, is remarkable and complete. This itself is a legacy.

#18: True Love Exists

Nick Vujicic was born with no arms and legs and always thought he would never find true love with him being the way he is. "I definitely had doubts that I'd ever get married, that I never met anybody who would love to spend the rest life with me," Nick said in a video interview.

Until he met Kanae Miyahara, they fell in love at first sight. She loves him for who he is..

Nick Vujicic and his beautiful wife Kanae Miyahara got married in February 2012 in California. A year later on the 13 Feb 2013, the couple welcomes Baby Boy Kiyoshi.

Love is a power that can make the world goes round!

Love yourself, be confidence with yourself, love yourself and allow yourself to be loved :) Because true love do exists!

#19: Health is Wealth

My friend asked, "Eileen, if there is one thing you can change in your life, what will that be?" My reply.. "My mum's health".

Dear all, take good care of your body, it's the only place you have to live in no matter what! Nothing can be achieved or fulfilled if we are always falling sick right? Health is something that money cannot buy.

So please take care, exercise regularly, calm your mind & stay healthy!
